

Fredrick Wanyama

Fredrick Wanyama holds a PhD in Political Science from Maseno University and is currently an Associate Professor of Political Science and Director of the School of Development and Strategic Studies at Maseno University.

His research interest is the interface between local organizations and the politics of African development, in which he has contributed many chapters to academic books and articles to refereed journals.

He is the author of Developing Africa from Below: Reflections on Neo-liberal Assumptions in Kenya (Saarbrucken, Germany: LAP Lambert Academic Publishing, 2010); a co-author of Social and Solidarity Economy: Building a Common Understanding (Turin: International Training Centre of the ILO, 2010) as well as Social and Solidarity Economy: Our Common Road towards Decent Work (Turin: International Training Centre of the ILO, 2011); and a co-editor of Cooperating out of Poverty: the Renaissance of the African Cooperative Movement (Geneva: ILO, 2008).

Dr. Wanyama has served as a consultant for the International Labor Organization (ILO) on many projects.